

Agenda for the Workshop “Identifying and testing of (behavioural) interventions to improve household connections to the central wastewater system”

Hosts: KfW and water:hub South-East Asia in collaboration with C4ED and research associates

When: 25th of March, 2022, 13:30 to 16:30 pm Hanoi time

Where: Online (Zoom)

Purpose: presentation of the research project “Identifying and testing of (behavioral) interventions to improve household connections to the central wastewater system“, discussion of barriers and solutions to increasing household connections

Agenda:

- Introduction (10-20 mins)
- Collection of expert views via web survey - Part I: household connection questions (20 mins)
- Presentation of the household connections research project including results from household diagnostic survey (Research team / 10 mins)
- Keynote speech: “Lessons Learned on House Connections over the last 10 Years” (F. Pogade / 10 mins)
- Presentation of initial findings and experiences from Vietnam/abroad (Research Team / 10 mins)
- Plenary discussion “Which results would the research project need to deliver so that you consider the project a success?” using a virtual whiteboard (25 mins including pause for reflection)
- Plenary discussion “Who needs to do what/when in order for these results to materialize?” using a virtual whiteboard (15 mins)
- Thematic discussions in 4 separate groups; (potential) topics: barriers; legal aspects; economic aspects; policy options; target group for an intervention (25 mins)
- Plenary presentations of group findings and general discussion (25 mins)
- Collection of expert views via web survey - Part II: demographic and other questions (10 mins)
- Closing plenary and next steps (10 mins)